Director's Welcome

Welcome to Duneira's seventh year of events, and our Spring program which runs from August to December.

Stuart Stoneman's vision was to create a cultural centre that provided people with the opportunity to relax, learn and be inspired.

His philanthropic model was informed by the great American collections; Stoneman's position in Australian society was ahead of its time and is still unique today.

Our heritage garden, c.1872, is of national significance, even so, it does not overshadow the rich history of the previous owners of this property. All were brilliant visionaries whose legacy lives on in this most unusual property.

Also of significance is our antiquarian book collection, our persian rugs, antique furniture and Stoneman's personal and eclectic art collection which includes a Rembrandt, a Rodin and a Warhol!

Our events aim to be educational and inspiring. One can hear specialist guest speakers in an intimate setting and have the opportunity to engage with them. Our concerts are held in the intimate chamber music setting in which the Menuhins performed.

Private groups are welcome by special arrangement with tours tailored to suit. You're sure to discover something new at Duneira!

Dr Jacqueline Ogeil

About Stoneman and His Vision

Duneira's seventh owner, Stuart Rusden Stoneman, was born in Castlemaine in 1927. He was the only son of local businessman Thomas Stoneman and became the third generation of the Stoneman family to work in the grocery industry. Motivated by a grand vision and study undertaken overseas in 1950, Stuart returned to Castlemaine and implemented self-service grocery stores – eventually developing the business into the successful Stoneman's Supermarket chain with additional stores in Bendigo, Echuca and Ballarat. Upon his death in 2002, Duneira was bequeathed to the care of The S.R. Stoneman Foundation to manage for the benefit of local and broader communities.

Stoneman's vision for Duneira was to maintain and preserve Duneira, to open it to the public, on a smaller scale but in the spirit of the Huntington Collection in California, and for it to 'continue to be a place where people have the opportunity to learn and relax in an aesthetically cultivated environment; to enable interested individuals and groups to have access to the property; to view and examine the various collections and attractions; and in certain instances to enjoy suitable social and other functions.'

Garden themes in Duneira's oriental carpets

Susan Scollay

Duneira's renowned heritage gardens are reflected in the floral designs of the extensive collection of oriental rugs that are one of the highlights of the house interiors. In this illustrated lecture, Dr Susan Scollay will review the history of the love of garden and floral themes in carpet weaving in the East and will use examples from the Duneira carpet collection to discuss their variety, symbolism and lasting appeal.

Dr Susan Scollay is an art historian and curator specialising in the arts and culture of the Islamic world and in historic textiles. She is a contributing editor to the international journal, HALI: carpets, textiles and Islamic art, the author of numerous publications in the field and is a Fellow of the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland.
