Macedon Regional Park
Visitor Guide

The Macedon Ranges are the southern end of Victoria’s Great Dividing Range and feature many natural and cultural points of interest. The Macedon Regional Park protects forested land along the ridge of the Range and provides great outdoor opportunities including bushwalking, picnics and scenic drives.

Getting there
Macedon Regional Park is north west of Melbourne. From the Calder Freeway take the Mount Macedon Road exits north of Gisborne or the Woodend exit and follow the signs.

Things to see and do
Mount Macedon War Memorial Cross
After the Shrine of Remembrance in Melbourne, Mount Macedon War Memorial Cross is the most significant war memorial in Victoria. An icon in the region this imposing structure commemorates those who served in all wars.

Major Mitchell Lookout
Offering stunning views to the north west of the range, this lookout was named after Major Thomas Mitchell, the first European to climb the 1000 metre peak in 1836. After sighting Port Phillip Bay from the southern aspect of the peak, Mitchell named it Mount Macedon as reference to Philip II of ancient Macedonia.

Mount Macedon Survey Cairn
This eight-metre-high cairn was built in the 1860s as a location point for land surveys. It is one of only three mortared stone Geodetic Triangulation Cairns in Victoria.

DC3 Kurana Display
This sign marks the site of the 1948 crash of Australia’s first pre-war DC3. The plane plunged into a pine plantation on the southern slopes of Mount Macedon on route from Melbourne to Deniliquin.

Camels Hump
The nearby Hanging Rock and this rocky outcrop are a mamelon – a volcanic feature formed six million years ago, when thick lava squeezed through a narrow vent in the earth’s crust.

The highest peak in the range, Camels Hump at 1,011m offers superb views of Hanging Rock and the surrounding countryside.

Mount Towrong
Mount Towrong is ideal for those seeking a quieter, more remote place and offers superb views of the iconic War Memorial Cross.

Mount Towrong is connected by the Macedon Ranges Walking Trail (loop) and can be readily reached by a steep ascent from Anzac Road or from the walking trail branching off Hemphil’s Track.

Sanatorium Lake
The cool climate of the Macedon region was thought to provide a perfect environment for patients suffering tuberculosis. In 1899 a sanatorium was opened in a building previously used as a private hospital. It closed in 1910.

A lake was made to supply water to a new, larger sanatorium which was never built. Swimming and fishing is not permitted in the lake.

Top of the Range Tea Rooms
Enjoy the stunning scenery of the park viewed from these tea rooms. Located at the summit next to the Mount Macedon War Memorial Cross Reserve. Drinks, meals, morning and afternoon tea are available 7 days a week during business hours. (03) 5427 3466

Picnicking
Enjoy a leisurely picnic at one of six picnic grounds within the Park. The Harbison Picnic Ground has free electric barbecues, shelters and toilets.

Days Picnic Ground has great space for both small and larger groups while historical Sanatorium Picnic Ground offers an ideal location for smaller groups with easy access to the well defined Sanatorium Eco Tourism Trail.

Scenic Drives
A network of sealed and unsealed public roads allows you take in the stunning scenery of the park by car. Some unsealed roads are subject to seasonal closure. All vehicles must be registered and drivers/riders licensed.

Bike riding
A series of multi-purpose tracks in the Old Scout Camp area provide cycling with some sections suited to casual riding while others provide more challenging experiences. Other open formed roads and tracks in the park offer opportunities to explore the forest and enjoy some magnificent views of the nearby countryside.

Some walking tracks within the park are managed for walkers only and are not available to cyclists. View the map for details.

Horse Riding
Old Scout Camp area provides a great starting point for your ride. Float parking is also available from the signposted section in Days Picnic Ground. Riders must remain on defined roads and tracks at all times.

Horses are not permitted on walking tracks, closed management tracks or in picnic grounds.

Walking
There are great opportunities to explore the park on foot via a series of walks that make up the Macedon Ranges Walking Track (loop).

Most sections of the 18.8 km trail loop are Grade 3 level moderate to difficult grade walking due to the steep mountain slopes.

Walking with dogs on a lead is permitted in the park. By keeping your dog on a lead you keep it safe and assist in the protection of the nature of the area you have come to explore and enjoy.

Check the weather forecast before exploring the park as Mount Macedon is usually cooler than surrounding areas and conditions can change quickly.
